How do you feel when you wake up everyday? The way you feel right then is who you really are. In ten, twenty or thirty years, there will be almost nothing that will change your true nature.

You can buy all the self-help crap ever created, meditate everyday and go to church everyday but at the end of the day, you are still just you in your true primal nature. Will you honor it?

Are you noble, tough, inspired, naturally lusting for the full experience of life or you just another generic wimp buying into the system's view of life, being a wage slave, going to your job or school, living at a comfortable mundane flatline all day long, no highs or lows, no intensity, no gusto for the natural feelings flowing through your senses?

Are you a noble warrior of your life or a generic piece of brainwashed crap, nothing original or primal about you?

Ask anyone what self-respect is and they will probably give you some psychobabble bull about feeling good about yourself. You can't feel good about yourself if you're a bag of crap, if you do nothing to honor who were naturally born to be constantly day after day to match an intuitive standard you should feel within yourself of who you were born with the natural inclination to be by nature.

Most people follow the artificial values of the world which are mostly the values of capitalist ambition, materialism and pop culture coolness rather than following what they feel within themselves which is their true nature.

If you don't release the natural energy in your soul that is inside of you everyday when you wake up, you betray yourself one day at a time. Day after day over time, you lose a hold of a strong vital body, your mind becomes soft, lost and unfocussed and you feel terrible even if you don't know that it's because you're betraying yourself. The empty feeling comes from the self-betrayal of not releasing your natural energy. Almost everybody lives at some level of self-betrayal because they don't understand that they are simply an essence that they must honor in order to feel peaceful and harmonious.

Honor who you were born to be by nature not buying into the world's bullshit. If the world changes you, stresses you out, makes you a big bag of shit hooked on junk food and all that crap on TV, you lose at life and you're a sucker for buying into the capitalist pop culture marketing machine.

Happiness is harmony with your true nature-soul, the divine essence God gave you. Earn your self-respect and well-being by releasing this natural energy inside of you all the time made up of the following five energies;

loving hedonistic, fun
practical

If you don't consciously live to release this energy that's inside of you all the time, you end up a mundane piece of crap with no highs in life. A natural high is the feeling you get when you release some of that natural energy inside of you with intensity. You get a freeing effect, like you're freeing yourself from the mundanity of the human condition.

That's it. That's the key to life.

Life is about releasing the natural energy in your soul day after day to honor who God created you to be.

Be who you are by nature.

Live life as it unfolds in front of you minute-by-minute, day-by-day.

Use your powers to the limits for good in order to honor whatever created you to the fullest.

Suppose you're struck down with a major disease or illness right now. What will you be thinking about in the hospital bed tonight? What's really important in life? Is life a sleepwalking affair where you go along with what's presented to you or do you try to do what you feel you were born to do?

Enlightenment is knowing your true nature then releasing that natural energy everyday to the best of your ability with intensity and love for the process to match an intuitive standard you should feel within yourself of who you were born to be given by the Divine Power of the Universe, God, through your DNA
