Cardiovascular disease is a common cause of morbidity and mortality in people with diabetes, and the routine management of patients with diabetes now includes close attention to the methods of controlling hyperglycaemia that bring about the maximum reduction in cardiovascular events.

Once patients with diabetes develop cardiovascular disease, there are specific considerations on the most appropriate cardiological treatment. Staff working in coronary care units and acute stroke units need to be familiar with the investigation and treatment of diabetes.

This book details the complications that diabetes presents in relation to heart disease and discusses the possible treatments that can be explored.
